Dear Colleagues,

There are some updates, that we would like to share with you:

Potsdam is in the final preparation phase for our network meeting in September. In addition to an interesting and demanding conference program, Daniel and Anja would like to invite you to explore the city with them. Therefore, they have planned to visit great restaurants, take a city tour and a boat trip. And as you can see, they also have a few surprises in store:

THE 2023 ANNUAL MEETING OF EN RLMM IN POTSDAM (GERMANY) ON 28th & 29th SEPTEMBER – REGISTRATION LINK

POTSDAM – 3 THINGS YOU MAY NOT KNOW ABOUT

1. It's most famous for its castles: Although Potsdam was heavily damaged by allied bombing in 1945, most of the palaces – including its most famous one located in Sanssouci Park – remained intact. Schloss Sanssouci was built as a residence for the Prussian kings in 1747.

2. It's full of UNESCO World Heritage sites: In 1990, and while Germany was still trying to unite, the palaces and parks of Potsdam were awarded UNESCO World Heritage status. Other buildings and parks were added later. All in all, the heritage site covers approximately 500 hectares of parkland, and includes 150 buildings.
3. It's the Birthplace of European film production: Babelsberg in Potsdam is Europe's biggest and oldest film studio, where more than three thousand productions have been made. Some of Germany's most famous films were created here, including Metropolis in 1927 and The Blue Angel in 1930, which starred Marlene Dietrich. In the last 20 years, Studio Babelsberg productions have received 48 nominations at the Academy Awards and have been awarded a total of 15 Oscars in various categories, four times GRAND BUDAPEST HOTEL, but also THE PIANIST, THE COUNTERFEITERS, THE READER and BRIDGE OF SPIES.

Have a nice summer,

Christa, Jenny, Anja & the EN RLMM Team
